An infant girl, apparently but a few months old, was found in the weeds in the west part of the city a few days since. It was found in the vicinity of a descried Indian camp, and it is believed the Indians had stolen it and abandoned it to die. It was in good healthy condition but very hungry when found. The skin was chafed underone of its arms and on its neck, indicating that it had been carried as the Indian mothers carry their pappooses The child was taken to the residence of John Schicketanze, where it was cared for temperarily. It is a white child, and it is very evident that it has been stolen feom some other city. The Indians have slipped away whithout leaving any trace as to their destination.

A Bold Jewelry Store Robbery. The jewelry store of A. A. Hart at 537 Broadway was burglarized in a very mysterious manner last evening. The proprietor was the sole occupant of the place, having no clerks or assistants. Yesterday was a very busy day with him, and he did not leave the store to go to his supper, but it was sent to him. He did not get to eat it until late. After he had eaten he concluded he wanted a little desert, and locked up his store a few moments and went to a little fruit stand or the corner of Seventh street and Broadway. From his own statement of the case he was not gone more than three minutes, but when he returned he found his store had been broken open and several hundred dollar worth of jewelry and watches taken. The robbery is a very mysterious one, and there is a good deal of speculation as to how it could be possible with hundreds of people passing all the time. Coupled with the fact that last winter Hart was the victim of another equally mysterious robbery, when his front door was forced while he was at supper and all of his best watches taken, it makes this second robbery of more than usual interest. N. J. Miller, the Seven-Foot Suspect, the Victim of Gross Injustice.

PHYSICIANS MUST OBEY THE LAWS.

A Prominent Doctor Arrested for Neglecting to Report Diphtheria Cases-Rounding Up the Saloons -School Board Matters.

N. J. Miller was set free vesterday after having been locked up in the black hole for forty-eight hours on suspicion of being a cattle thief. Miller is hot and threatens to make it extremely interesting for some one. He says a fellow named Ed Bries, who has been working on different farms in Mills county, was the chief cause of his trouble. Miller is a farm hand also, and knew Bries in Mills county. For a month past Miller has been digging a crop of potatoes for Sheriff O'Neil and is said to be a hardworking, honest fellow. According to his story, Bries, meeting him here, renewed former acquaintance, and confirmed it by berrowing some money of him. Later Bries asked him to walk up to police headquarters, as he wanted to see Chief Cary, who was an old friend. He sented, and while Bries was inside talking to Chief Cary Miller sat on the steps in nocently waiting. After a while he was called in too, and was then informed that he must be looked up. He says he was refused an opportunity to send for an attorney, was refosed any trial or hearing, and it was not until forty-eight hours had passed that he until forty-eight hours had passed that he got his liberty. Attorney Lindt secured his release by demanding some showing of something by which they claimed to have the right to hold the man. Miller says that there was no information filed against him, and that while he was told that he was wanted for stealing cattle from Dr. Wall, his attorney received a telegram from Dr. Wall that he had lost no cattle. Miller understands that the fellow Bries claims to be a detective, having joined sometin badge organization in Cleveland, and that he was the one on whose order the chief of police ordered him arrested on this fellow's mere say so. Bries was not to be found yesterday.

Physicians Must Obey the Law. There was lying in the city clerk's office nearly all day yesterday an information charging a very prominent paysiclan in the city with willful violation of the state law requiring the reporting to the health officers by physicians all cases of contagious diseases. The information was drawn in the usual manner and bore the official seals and the names of the clerks of the superior and police courts. The clerk had also filled out the warrant for the arrest of the physician and the marshal was wait ing patiently to have the document turned over to him for service. But he waited until late in the afternoon and in vain, for the reason that there was no complaining witness no one willing to sign the information and be come the prosecutor of the doctor. To all in quiries the answer was returned that the officers were waiting for the appearance of the city physician, whose duty it was to become he prosecutor. "This is a step in the right direction," said city officer. "It makes no difference how prominent the physician may be, if he disregards or violates the law he should be pun ished just the same as the commonest vagrant. The law was made to protect the publie, and it is a wise and beneficent law, If no person can be found to sign that in formation before night I will do it myself, although the doctor who will be made to suffe s a friend of mine whom I respect highly. is a case of malignant diphtheria, and the eglect of the physician may have been means of exposing a great many people to the contagion and spreading the disease. People do not as a general thing like to have their homes placarded with the big yellow posters when their children take the diphtheria, and they will frequently use every pos-sible means to induce the physician not to report the case, or try to bribe the marrhal not to put up the card when he appears with it is compliance with his duties. They will threaten the doctor with the loss of their patronage if he reports it, and several physicians that I know say they have lost their practice in good families because they persisted in doing their duty and eporting the cases.

"There has been a great deal of diphtheria in the city during the past summer, and several times it has indicated a tendency to become epidemic. The only way to prevent it, or at least what is considered the best means of stamping it out, is the strict enforcement of the state board of health rules, which have been adopted by the city council.

The council meets next Monday night as a board of health and I think they will pass a resolution requiring a stricter enforcement of the health laws than has prevailed for some time past. We all fear the diphtheria and we all desire to have it kept away from our homes. We will not go near it or let our loved ones be exposed if we know where it is ocated, and the only way we can know this is to be advised in the official manner pre-scribed. While the talk about the fifthy condition of the city which some of the papers have indulged in and become hysterical over is all bosh, it is probable that the council will order a general cleaning up. The streets and alleys of the city were never in a better or cleaner condition, and I do not believ or cleaner condition, and I do not believe there has been or will be a single case of dis-ease due to the existence of filth in any pub-lic place. But still there are some things that should be looked after. They are especially the open vaults of outhouses Many of them are so offensive that they can be detected a block they can be detected a block away, and they are certainly contaminating the air and spreading disease or creating it in their neighborhood. There are hundreds of such places that the board of health should order filled up. And then there are many wells that should be filled up to prevent the people upon whose premises they are located using the water they contain. It may look clear and nice but it cannot be otherwise than impregnated with poison owing to the surroundings. Whether the board of health does this or not, one thing is sure, the physicians of the city will be required to comply with the law and report all cases of contarious diseases that come under their professional observation."

Rounding Up the Saloons. City Marshal Templeton was provided with a list of the saloonkeepers of the city yesterday who had so far neglected to come up and settle for their October licenses. The list filled four sheets of legal cap paper, two lines being given to each delinquent. The list comprises sixty-four names. The monthly license or fine which each of these men is compelled to pay amounts to $27.70. Of this sum $25 goes into the city treasury and the remaining $2.70 is absorbed in court costs and marshal's fees. This reaches the handsome total of $1,774.80, all of which goes into the city cash box with the exception of $172.80 court and marshal's costs. court and marshal's costs.

A number of saloonkeepers have paid their fines and costs and stand square with the city on the books in the city clerk's office. A few neglect to do so promptly, and they are as promptly brought up and booked for keeping disorderly houses. They pay their fines then or lay in jail until the amount is served and are then compelled to quit business. They stand no show is an equal contest with the city. Marshal Templeton and his deputies are vigilant and aggressive in obeying the orders of the city, and a mighty small per-centage of these fines, or licenses, are lost by failure to collect.

For the past year the average number of salons in the city whose proprietors have come forward monthly with the prescribed amount is about seventy. They have paid into the city treasury a total monthly sum of $1,700 and $184 court and Marshal's fees, or a grand total of $10,400 to the city and $3,208 into the police court and Marshal's office for the year.

For a prohibition state this makes a pretty good showing, and when the amount the saloon men are compelled to put up monthly in fighting injunction proceedings or moving to avoid the consequences of injunctions al-ready obtained, it brings the annual license for keeping snicons in Council Bluffs up to a figure somewhat above $500 a year. Only a little over one-half of this sum gets into the city treasury. A straight $500 license would bring into the city's cash box not less than $50,000 a year. Only two of the men whose names were on the marshal's list failed to comply with the request to come up and settle yesterday, and they were arrested upon the charge of keephey were arrested upon the charge of keep-ng disorderly houses. They arranged the natter quickly and will continue the business ing disorderly houses at the old stands.

Robbed His Employer.

At 8 o'clock last evening a warrant was sued from Justice Schurz's court for the ar rest of Albert Johnson, a young man who has been employed in the meat market of F. M Welker, corner of Main street and Sixth avenue. The warrant was placed in the hands of an officer and the young man was taken into custody.

His employer was very reticent concerning the matter and refused to give any informa tion at all for publication, only admitting stop its blanching and falling out, and where it is gray to restore the youthful color, use Hall's Hair Renewer. that the young man had been in his employ for the past year and a half and was considered a faithful and thustworthy fellow. From other sources it was tearned that the amount of the young man's defalcation would approximate a sum between $700 and $800.

"La Traviata," Verdi's dramatic opera was given last evening at the Boyd, with Miss The peculations only covered a period of less than six months. Johnson was engaged as a cierk or shop tender, and made the greater part of the kales. From almost each sie he would abstract a small amount, and diving the Francesca Guthrie in the stellar role of Violetta, Mons. Guille as Alfred Germont, and Mr. William Mertens as his father, George Germont. The performance left little during the day would take money from the drawer. His employer has suspected him for some time, but could not obtain definite to be desired from a vocal point of view, but the romantic role of Alfred suffered on acproof until resterday when he set a trap for him, into which he holdly walked. Johnson has been a resident of the city for some time, and has relatives living here. He is making a desperate effort to make good the count of Mr. Guille's stature. Art should be above the desire for physical beauty, probably in a tenor but it will be universally conceded that vocal ability coupled with a manly presence adds greatly to such a role as Alfred Germent. Miss Guthrie sang the score of Violetta in a manner that left little to be desired. She a manner that left liftle to be desired. She is beyond question one of the most capable artists now before the public, her work at all times being intelligent and conscientious. Mr. Mertens, while not a great George, was quite pleasing. The only fault to be found is with his articulation. The chorus was in excellent form and the opera was given with excellent effect. Tonight this company will be seen at the Morris Guille will sing the rele of Manrico, Miss Guthrie, Leonora and no company now entour is so well constituted to give this opera than the Hess opera company, which closed at the Boyd last night.

At the corner of Fourteenth and Chicago streets there has been established one of the most unique entertainments which has yet visited this city. It is called the labyrinth. It consists of a series of paths leading between canvass walls in every direction. The object is to reach a flag staff which is located so as to be visible from all parts of the square. The party who reaches this pole after having traversed the devious ways, is entitled to a draw at a certain time, for a valuable prize. The attempts to entitled reach the pole lead frequently to the getting of the enthusiast lost so much that he is compelled to allow one of the attendants to lead him out. This causes a great deal of good-natured laughter, which is all the more was enjoined by John Short:

MEETING OF MORRONS.

Sixty-First Annual Conference Opens

in Salt Lage.

SALT LARE CITY, Utah, Oct. 4.- The Mormon semi-annual conference was opened today by George Q. Cannon. Elder Roberts

spoke of the revelation to come from President Woodruff and said that 1890 would rank and said the Lord wouldn't reveal the time,

but he had talked twice recently with Joseph

Smith in the spirit, and the purport of it was that the bridegroom was about to take the bride. He also talked behind the well with Brigham Young and was encouraged greatly.

Apostle Richards said the kingdom was to advance more rapidly than ever, but the Son of Man and his angels would not come on earth until Jerusalem is rebuilt. The saints should study the scriptures more and then the young men would see visions and old men

Apostle Thatcher advised the saints to prepare for 1891. They had prospered greatly of late and that made him fearful. What we need is persecution and plenty of it. He ex-pressed full belief in Woodruff's conversa-tions with Joseph Smith and Brigham Young.

The time is coming when this country will again engage in a strife between capital and labor and the Mormon question will be forgotten for a time. Then the people would flee from all parts of the land to Utah and the

Mormons would welcome them and would establish here a true republican government

Welsh Presbyterians.

There will be preaching today at the Welsh

Presbyterian church as follows: At 10 a.m.

by Rev. D. Edwards of Denver, Colo., and

Rev. Joseph Roberts of Minneapolis, Minn.;

at 2:30 p. m. by Rev. Thomas Miles. Platte

Mr. T. C. Humphrey of Omaha leads the singing and Prof. William Davies of Milwautee presides at the organ at all these services.

At the session yesterday full reports were read from the various committees appointed to investigate all the different lines of work performed by the church. At 2 p. m. Rev. Johns, pastor of the Twenty-fourth street churce, was ordained. The following gentlemen assisted in the ordination ceremones. Rev. D. Edwards, Denver; Rev. H. T. Hughes, Dawn, Mo.; Rev. Thomas Miles,

President Woodruff then came forward

as an epoch in the history of the church.

Has There Been Foul Play? Cashier W. A. L. Gibbon, of the Nebraska savings bank, reports a singular circumstance that gives cause for grave suspicions.

On June 5, a man giving his name as M Bradley deposited $120, getting a certificate of deposit due in three months. The man could not write and made his mark on the signature register.
On September 10 Mr. Bradley went in the bankagain and in the absence of the cashier got a receipt for $60 more to be added to his other deposit, and was to call the next day to get from Cashier Gibbon a certificate for his $170. Instead of Mr. Bradley, another man came in on September 11 with the re-ceipt and demanded the money, and on being asked to sign the receipt, promptly wrete, in a rapid, business hand "Michael Bradley." This caused Mr. Moriarty to be suspicious, and on refusing to pay over the money the strange man turned oale and trembled, and hastily went out to get some one to identify him, but failed to return. The suspicious part of the whole matter is the failure of Mr. Bradley to re-turn and get his certificate, or on discovering the loss of his papers to notify the bank.

The foot ball game between two picked teams of the Young Men's Christian association at Walnut Hill yesterday afternoon drew a fair sized crowd, and proved to be very interesting. W. L. Sheldon and L. F. Curtis were the captains. Curtis seemed to have selected players of superior ability to those chosen by Sheldon, for in a two hours' con-test the score stood 18 to 0 in favor of the Curtis team. The game was hotly contested in several innings, however, and the zero record of the Sheldon team was largely due to luck. In one exciting rush Mr. Curtis received a severe cut just above the left eye.
